NIGHT GIRL

Either black or navy blue. Go with a slim cut in a wool crepe or a seasonless cotton one pair of dark slacks for the evening with a fuller.

TRIP GIRL

One hemmed for heels and the other hemmed for flats. Jeans that are hemmed for heels you should see just the toe box.

STREET GIRL

A pencil skirt, a A-line skirt which incidentally looks good on all body types and a skirt in a neutral fabric so you can mix and match with others items like tweed, wool or boucle.

I MADE WAVES ON MY WAY TO THE BIG APPLE

The year was 1948 and I was on an ocean liner travelling to New York. As I floated across the oak dining room, the soft folds of my fabric mirrored the rolling waves of the Atlantic and my sparkling collar outshone the starry sky. No one would have guessed that I'd spent all afternoon hanging from a porthole window in the galley. When one has been packed in a trunk, kitchen steam works wonders on those ghastly creases.

Step 1:

Brush it.

With a natural-bristle brush every day, and if you can, massage your scalp. This stimulates hair growth. Few of us have hours to spend getting our hair just right every morning, but there are a few basics that you have to know.

Step 2:

Eat right.

The first golden rule is to eat right. A diet high in saturated fats and processed foods is not doing your hair any favors, or your body for that matter! Eat greens, nuts, berries, fresh fish and drink plenty of water on a regular basis. From lifestyle choices to using the right products that will give your hair the cared for look it deserves.

Step 3:

Visit your salon.

Visit your salon every few weeks for a trim. This will not only keep your hair in prime condition, but your stylist is the best person to detect any hair care problems you might have and offer the appropriate solutions. Getting a haircut also does wonders for your self-confidence—who doesn't feel great walking out of the salon?

Step 4:

No products.

Don't weigh down your hair with too many products; remember, less is more! If you have oily locks go ahead and shampoo daily, but for normal or dry hair restrict yourself to every few days at the most. Choose a gentle, frequent-use shampoo (Beauty-id's Vi tamin + Kiwi shampoo, for example) and remember to condition the tips. Keep your styling products to a minimum as well as everything. Step 5:

Sun protection.

Protect your hair from the sun. This means either a hat or products that shield your locks from UV rays. Keep blow-drying to a minimum and air-dry your hair with your finger-tips instead when ever possible. mum and air-dry your hair with your finger-tips instead when ever possible. mum and air-dry your hair with your finger-tips instead when .

BLAKE
LIVELY

Blake covers InStyle magazine October 2011, the Australian edition. Inside, the lovely 'Green Lantern' actress dishes on fashion, being called a style icon, her 'Gossip Girl' outfits, movies and men.

On her love of fashion, Blake told InStyle that it didn't spark while working on 'Gossip Girl'. "No, I inherited it from my mother Elaine. My mum used to be a model and actress, and always enjoyed sewing my clothes herself when I was a kid. It was a ritual for us to roam vintage stores once a week. She inspired me to dress myself more unconventionally and to mix different styles. Gossip Girl, of course, gave me the chance to develop my passion even further. In the show I play the rich New York It-girl, who always wears the latest designer fashion. Every day I'll find new amazing pieces by the best designers in the world in my set closet. Quite a paradise! I'm getting paid to wear fancy dresses in front of the camera. What else would I want?," Lively says.

Blake admits that she is not the one to choose the outfits she wears in 'Gossip Girl'. "Unfortunately, I don't have enough time for that. I usually get home really late when we're filming and instantly drop into my bed. But I work with a great stylist on set. She knows exactly what I want and sometimes also surprises me with great looks. When I see something I really like, I usually take a photo and send it to her so that she can get it for me. Pretty convenient! I love to mix different patterns, colors and fabrics and I'm always looking for new and stylish combinations. That's what makes fashion so much fun," the actress says to the magazine.

Due to her amazing red carpet appearances and her ability of pulling off on-trend, flawless casual looks, Blake also gain the title of It-girl. On being considered a style icon, she told in the interview with InStyle that.

"I feel very honored if people think that way of me but I never tried to be one. I love to mix and match all my clothes together.

I love to mix different patterns, colors and fabrics and I'm always looking for new and stylish combinations. After all, I have my own role models as well.
